

Senior Spotlight: Matthew B.

My background and heritage is Jamaican and Caymanian but my dad's family is originally from Wisconsin, and they are originally from Sweden. I have lived in 3 different countries but have lived in Cayman for most of my life and was born and raised here, the others are the UK where I lived for three years, and the US where I lived for around 5 months after hurricane Ivan. I've only been at CIS for 1 year but I think that I have adapted to the school community well because I care about people and am able to adapt my communication skills in order to talk with many different people, but I am not always at 100% and I become lazy at times. One interesting thing about me is that I used to live in the UK and went to boarding school for 3 years before coming here.

- What makes you a good person?
 - I think that I am thoughtful and that I am kind to others, but sometimes I think that I have too much of a moral conscience.

- Do you want to be famous? Why or why not?
 - No, I wouldn't like to be famous because I want my life to be private.
